The future of learning
What students want (summary)

Engaging, interactive F2F classes + podcasts of them More F2F time with academics More feedback (+faster turnaround)
When casual academics are employed, they should be paid more (to attend all classes etc)
Faster turnaround on email and UTSOnline questions Bring back office hours

Big $ to implement an approach to learning and teaching The UTS Model of Learning

- An integrated exposure to professional practice through dynamic and multifaceted modes of practice-oriented education
- Professional practice situated in a global workplace, with international mobility and international and cultural engagement as centre piece
- Learning which is research-inspired and integrated, providing academic rigour with cutting edge technology to equip graduates for life-long learning integrated exposure to professional practice

- Work-based learning
- Work integrated learning
- Internships
- Practicum etc
- Volunteer activity, Shopfront projects etc
- Field trips - real and virtual
- Simulation and role plays - in class or online
- Problem-based or issues-based approaches
- Multi-media case studies - including student produced work Faculty of Engineering and IT Dr Chau Chak Wing Building learning goals

making sense testing

action

accessing ideas

content

OER

iTunes U

YouTube

TED Ed

learning goals
flipped learning remote laboratories simulations peer learning LEARNING 2014

groupwork
Becoming an advanced communicator

Basic Involves being able to:

- participate productively in class discussion, and in smaller group discussions
- prepare a case note,
- report on a court visit, and
- write solutions to basic legal problems.

Intermediate Is basic plus being able to:

- effectively present material before the class
- communicate effectively in basic negotiations
- structure and express oneself in short essays of 2-3000 words
- prepare minor research papers.

Advanced
Is intermediate plus being able to:

- effectively interview clients,
- engage in mooting and oral court advocacy,
- draft court pleadings, letters of advice, legal correspondence, and judgment/award writing
- prepare major research papers of over 5000 words in length learning embedded in authentic context