5.6   Refusal of application, withdrawal of offer of admission and cancellation of admission or enrolment

5.6.1   The University reserves the right to refuse an application for admission, withdraw an offer of admission or cancel the application or student's admission or enrolment in cases where:

(1) an applicant does not provide information required by the University within the time specified by the University; or

(2) an applicant has not provided true, accurate and complete information, including but not limited to:

(a) full details of all previous academic information and study and personal information as required on the application form; or

(b) full details of proof of identity and citizenship status as required on the application form.

(3) an applicant, who has been granted a deferral of commencement in a course, enrols in any other undergraduate or graduate courses (including diplomas, advanced diplomas and associate degrees at post-secondary level) at any tertiary institution during the period of approved deferral;
(4) a student, who has been readmitted to a course with conditions relating to his or her future conduct at the University set by the Vice-Chancellor (or nominee), fails to satisfy those conditions; or

(5) the University is not satisfied that an applicant or student meets the Genuine Temporary Entrant and/or Genuine Student requirements set by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection; or

(6) the University considers in its absolute discretion that an applicant’s or student’s admission or a student’s continued enrolment in a subject or course would be in breach of, or would risk being in breach of, any legislation.
